M. von Rothschild, the Austrian Credit Austrial and the Austrian Laenderbank $25,000,000 for four and a half per cent, one and a half and two years imperial treasury notes.

WILSON IS UNBIASED ON THE CANAL BILL

British Newspaper Foresees Fair Treatment of English Panama Canal Claims From President-Elect.

Manchester, Eng., Dec. 10.—The Manchester Guardian, one of the leading liberal newspapers of the British Isles, commenting on the dispatch sent to Washington by Sir Edward Grey, British foreign minister, on the subject of the Panama canal dues, expresses the belief that the election of Woodrow Wilson, who has permitted himself to support the Panama Canal bill as did President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt, "gives a better chance for fair and unbiased hearings of the contentions of Sir Edward Grey." The newspaper goes on to contend that the question is one of pure law to be settled by arbitration. It continues: "Americans, it seems, have objections to referring a question involving the validity of domestic legislation to a court abroad, but would it not be possible to combine the two plans. The international court at The Hague might first pronounce on the rule of international law in conflicts of this kind and the United States supreme court might then apply its finding to the particular case."

DENIED TAKING PART IN McNAMARA PLOTS

Michael Young of Boston, Executive of Iron Workers' Union, Denied Accusation on Stand.

Indianapolis, Dec. 10.—Accused as an active promoter of explosions in eastern cities, Michael J. Young, of Boston, testified in his own behalf at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today that he never participated in the McNamara plots.

McManigal said when he caused an explosion in an opera house under course of construction at Boston in March, 1909, Young met and showed him where to put the explosives. On another trip east McNamara said Young met him in Springfield, Mass., in April, 1911, and arranged for the dynamite to blow up the tower of the Springfield Municipal buildings. Numerous letters between Young and McNamara were produced for explanation by Young.

Bull Moose Leaders Renew Allegiance To Their Chief With Rousing Meeting at Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Col. Roosevelt was greeted at the conference of the progressive party leaders here today by an enthusiastic audience which filled the commodious meeting place in a downtown hotel. Even the aisles were crowded. The former president delivered the key note address of the occasion from which, however, he digressed to thank those of the party who came forward with contributions when the new party was much in need of funds, to finance the presidential campaign. The colonel walked to the front of the platform and pointed at State Senator Flynn of Pennsylvania, George W. Perkins, Frank A. Munsey, and C. S. Berg, calling each by name. "I don't want to say that I have been happy to be associated with you, I want to say there has been no more disinterested progressives than yourselves. Nobody will ever have to investigate me to learn that I knew of these contributions and was very much obliged for them."

Col. Roosevelt concluded his address amid tumultuous cheers in the midst of which arose the cry, "Let us hear from Idaho!" In response J. P. Gibson of Caldwell, in that state, arose and inspired further cheering when he said: "The supreme court of Idaho instead of being in a position to cite editors for contempt should be wearing stripes."

Surviving the 35 foot jump without apparent injury, Bergen got away. A short time afterward, however, he returned to the house. Detectives on guard surrounded him and in the shooting which followed, Bergen was killed.

MILWAUKEE WINS IN CASE AND RETAINS FINE MONEY PAID

Supreme Court Decides Statute of Limitations Holds Good Against State and Affirms the Lower Court.

Madison, Dec. 10.—The supreme court today held that the statute of limitations had run on the collection of $220,732.48 fines plus the interest in the criminal cases sought to be recovered by the state for the school fund from the city and county of Milwaukee. The lower court is fully sustained. The court declared the legislature has the right under the constitution to fix the statute of limitation applicable to the state as well as individuals and corporations. The court refutes the idea the statute of limitation does not apply because the state was acting in the capacity of trustee of the fund. In the case of Anna L. Cady, versus Katherine Hennes, the supreme court today held that whenever a person sells property to which a special assessment has been levied but not paid, the liability for payment falls upon the grantee. In the case at bar Katherine Hennes must pay an assessment levied by the city of Milwaukee against the property which she sold to the appellee.

KNOX STUDIES NOTE OF BRITISH PROTEST

OBJECTIONS TO PANAMA CANAL BILL AND MEANS OF ENDING DISPUTE CONSIDERED.

A PECUNIARY MATTER

And a Difference Not Affecting the Vital Interests of United States is Attitude of President.

Washington, Dec. 10.—With the formal presentation of Great Britain's protest against the Panama canal bill, Secretary Knox today got down to a careful study of the objections raised by Sir Edward Grey, in the lengthy note transmitted last night by Ambassador Bryce.

Now that the proposal for arbitration has been squarely presented, the means by which the question might be presented to The Hague are a center of interest. The existing arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain expires by limitation next June.

If controversy were to be delayed until then, there would be no treaty under which the dispute might be arbitrated. In any case a special agreement approved by the senate would be required before the dispute could be referred to The Hague and there is a variance of opinion as to whether a majority of the senate would permit the case to go there.

Some official expressions prior to the delivery of the British note afford ground for the belief that while not agreeing with the British contention that the canal tolls act in violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, the administration is inclined to admit that the subject is one over which there might be a fair difference of opinion. Moreover it is known that the president does not regard the subject as one affecting the vital interests of the United States, but rather as of purely pecuniary consequence and therefore, not among the prohibited subjects mentioned in the existing special arbitration treaty with Great Britain.

NEED TWENTY-FIVE MARRIAGE LICENSES

Number of Permits Issued During 1912 Runs Slightly Behind Last Year's Record.

Wanted: Twenty-five couples to take out marriage licenses at the county clerk's office before January 1, 1913. Leap year is nearly over with just three weeks remaining and in that time the county clerk is anxious to register twenty-five or more marriage licenses in order to equal the number issued in 1911 which was the record year for Rock county.

At present 357 marriage permits have been issued during this year. On Dec. 8, 1912, there had been issued 362 licenses, while the total number for last year was 382. An exceptional demand during the remainder of the month must therefore be forthcoming to equal last year's figures as there is a handicap of five licenses to start with.

From the large number of licenses issued in 1911 and 1912 it is quite evident that the high cost of living is no stumbling block for Dan Cupid. The prices of eggs and milk and beef steak may steadily rise but marriage licenses continue to be issued with a regularity which is gratifying to "marrying parsons," furniture dealers and milkmen.

The percentage of leap year proposals in Rock county is small, according to the county clerk. Of course there may be a tendency for pairs brought together on the lady's suggestion to "keep it dark," and then it may be the plan to proceed after the engagement as though the young man had assumed all the responsibility. There is no sure way of telling these things for one of the questions on the application blanks is, not: "To the initiative of which party is this proposed marriage responsible?"

But leap year or no leap year, why not make it thirty more marriage licenses issued in Rock county during the coming three weeks?

EXPECT TO RAISE BRIDGE TOMORROW

Railroad Bridge to be Raised About Seven Inches and Shifted Eighteen Inches Upstream.

By tomorrow morning, it is expected, all work preparatory to raising the level of the joint railroad bridge of the Northwestern and St. Paul companies will be completed by the crew of ironworkers and others employed on the contract for the construction of a new bridge to replace the old one, and the old bridge will be raised about seven inches above its present level. With that task completed, the next step in the difficult work involved in the erection of the new bridge will be to shift the present structure eighteen inches up stream, making a slight curve in the tracks necessary. When this has been accomplished, the work of tearing out the old trusses will be started, and the concrete piers will be put in. Part of the old piers will be left standing, but the pedestal portion, the part on which the bridge rests at present, will be torn out and replaced with concrete. The trusses and tracks on the Northwestern side of the bridge will be torn out first and the portion of the new bridge on that side will be put in first. At the least, it is expected it will take seven or eight months' time to complete the new bridge.

MAN WHO STOLE OVERCOAT AGAIN IN TOILS OF LAW.

A. H. Finn, Who Recently Finished Twenty-five day Sentence, Gets Term for Intoxication.

A. H. Finn, who recently finished serving twenty-five days' time in the county jail for the theft of an overcoat from a farmer's wagon, failed to leave town as advised, by the judge when sentenced and last night was arrested on a charge of drunkenness. He pleaded guilty when arraigned in court this morning and was sentenced to five days more in jail. Finn claims he had been working steadily since he left jail until he injured his hand and was laid up.

Paul Bailey, a young man, was also charged with being intoxicated and not being able to pay a fine of $5 and costs went to jail for ten days. Complaint was made to the police that Bailey used abusive language, fought, and made himself generally unpleasant at a dance. Bailey protested that someone pushed him down stairs and that he returned to see if anyone would dare to try the trick again.

Peter O'Hara was picked up in front of an East Milwaukee street early last evening in such a state of intoxication that he had to be taken to the station in a patrol wagon. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $3 and costs.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON RIVER PROJECT

Col. George S. Parker Receives Assurance From Washington to This Effect.

That the engineers who made the survey of the Rock river during the past summer with a view of obtaining data as to whether it could be made a navigable stream or not, will report favorably of the project is now assured. Col. George S. Parker has recently received a letter from a prominent congressman who states that he has assurances that the engineers will make a favorable report and that congress will consider the project and probably make an appropriation for furthering the work. Among the men interested in the plan, of national importance, is former Congressman Frank Lowden of Illinois.

MRS. WORRY.

BY C. A. VOIGHT.

Jimmy Johnston, who acts as business agent for practically all the English pugilists who come to this country, notes a big difference in the temperaments of British and American fighters. "Americans are rough and ready," he says. "When told they are matched to fight, they ask no questions but go ahead and train. They will take a bout on the shortest kind of a notice and go in the ring feeling they are going to knock the stuffing out of the opposition. "Think-English fighters would do that? No-o-o. The first thing most of them say to you upon being advised of a match is: 'Well, I can hardly take it, I know. I'm not feeling well. It will require some time for me to get into proper condition.'"

Many of the stars of the baseball firmament shone with brilliance on the gridiron in their college days. The New York Nationals have many former football stars on their team, including Mathewson, famous for his dropkicking when he was a football hero at Bucknell. Harry McCormick and Fred Merkle were also big football men in their college days. Jake Stahl also won fame on the gridiron before he did on the diamond.

According to the reports of the faculty at Harvard the students of that institution have not yet finished celebrating the victory over Yale on the gridiron last month. The report is that the 20 to 0 score has been carved on benches, desks and window sills of Harvard's classic halls until the crimson victory stares at one from all quarters. Stone window sills and even mantels of marble are said not to have escaped.

Chances of former Lightweight Champion Ad Volgaist appearing in a San Francisco ring on New Year's day are said to be slim. His left arm and hand have stiffened up badly and he does not care to box again soon.

Owner Navin of the Detroit Tigers thinks he has found a phenom in Pitcher Herman Nichols of the Wyandotte, Mich. team, whom he has recently signed up. Nichols defeated Dubuc, Mullin and Blanding in exhibition games last October.

The baseball diamond seems to be a pretty good place to train for the stage. Here are a few of the ball players who this winter are pulling down big money behind the footlights: Mike Donlin, Hugh Jennings, John McGraw, Joe Tinker, Rube Marquard, Nick Altrock, Germany Schaefer, Hugh Bradley and Buck O'Brien.

President Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox says that within six years all American league clubs will be governed by experienced baseball men, who have come up from the players' ranks. He points to four clubs, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, which are now guided by former players.

TWENTY-FIVE SEEK POSITIONS ON TEAM

Large Squad Out For Basketball Practice at High School.

The high school basketball squad will appear strong tonight for practice, with about twenty-five candidates to try out for the five positions on the team. As there are three regular men out, but two positions will have to be filled, as it is thought there is no man in the school of sufficiently good quality to replace Capt. Falter, Edler or Hemming. Those trying out for positions are mostly forwards and some spirited playing can be assured to pick out the two best men for the positions. The gymnasium has been put in the best possible shape, and the baskets are securely put up, adding the men in every way possible. There are but five practices before Christmas and much will have to be accomplished in that short time. The team will undoubtedly be one of the best in the history of the school, as prospects were never quite so bright, despite the loss of last year's forwards, Korst and Cunningham.

FIGHT UPON PHONE COMPANY

Twenty-six of Largest Manufacturers at Racine File Complaints Against Wisconsin Concern.

Racine, Wis., Dec. 9.—Twenty-six of the largest manufacturers of this city today instructed their attorneys to prepare complaints against the Wisconsin Telephone company to be filed with the state rate commission, alleging the company's service to be inefficient. The petition asks for a public hearing to be held in this city.

HOW IT WORKS.

It seems to be widely accepted as a foregone conclusion that in the great majority of cases equal suffrage will not have the effect of dividing houses politically. As husbands and wives are usually in agreement regarding all other matters—for it is a fact that domestic harmony is the rule—it is held that they will also be in agreement on political questions, at least to the same degree after as before the wife becomes a voter. This statement of the case, however, does not justify the position taken by a Topeka (Kan.) politician, who is quoted as saying: "I do not look for any change in the political situation now that the women have a right to vote. The only effect equal suffrage will have on the ballot will be to increase the number of votes. For it has been demonstrated that women will vote as their husbands vote."

In order to refute this assertion, a Kansas City contemporary recalls a celebrated contest in the city of Salina, in which the women, almost as a body, swung away from their husbands at the polls. The women, discontented with the manner in which municipal affairs were being conducted, induced a preacher to enter the mayoralty race as an independent. The men of the town, as a rule, were for one or the other of the regular candidates. During the progress of the balloting, one of the political leaders reported to his headquarters: "I stood at the polls in my predilect just to get a line on how the women were voting. Nine out of twelve who voted while I was there came in with their husbands. Of course they voted as their husbands asked them to vote."

The votes of the men were counted first, and it was found that the republican candidate had carried three wards, while the democratic candidate had carried one. The preacher was a poor third in the showing. When the vote of the women was counted, however, it was found that the independent candidate had carried every ward in the city.

Now, neither the statement of the Topeka politician, nor the result of the election in Salina should be taken at its face value. It is not true that women will vote at the dictation of their husbands, nor is it true that they will vote in defiance of the wishes of their husbands. Either assumption is based upon ignorance of the home, its atmosphere and its influence. If women vote as their husbands vote, it will be because husbands vote as their wives vote. They will vote as a rule, in harmony, because they come to entertain a like view about most matters. Because the wife votes with the husband, it does not follow that she is not influencing her husband's vote. The contrary is just as likely to be the case.

The Christian Science Monitor thus discusses the universal suffrage question from the point of experience in a state where it has been adopted. It will be noticed that where harmony prevails in the home that the husband and wife vote the same ticket, but it is usually the ticket which the wife selects. And that is as it should be, because it shows a spirit of deference on the part of the husband which contributes largely to mutual happiness.

While the progressives, under the leadership of Colonel Roosevelt, are attempting to reorganize in Chicago, the republican members of the senate are trying to agree on a temporary president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Vice President Sherman. Senator La Follette now has a chance to come out from cover and show his hand. A number of progressive senators are said to be waiting to follow his leadership, but he is not a good follower, and is liable to balk unless permitted to name the candidate.

The parcels post will be inaugurated the first of January, and the government is already supplying the larger cities with funds for delivery. The mail order houses will be great beneficiaries, and this kind of competition will be keener than ever before. The argument in favor of the plan is "the greatest good to the greatest number." The government believes that the people generally will be greatly benefited, and that the ultimate consumer will be happy. Time will tell how much the ordinary lines of business will be affected.

When the petition for the recall is filed, it becomes public property, and the people will have an opportunity to know who the men are who are clamoring for a wide open town. It is safe to assume that it will not contain the names of many business men, for no man who prizes the good will of the women of the city, who represent the buying public, will care to array himself against them, on a question which so vitally affects the welfare of the home. It is well to keep in mind that law or lawlessness is the only issue.

If a new election is ordered, it will be interesting to study the character of the men who will ask for the suffrage of the people, on the issue so clearly defined, that he who runs may read. It matters not who the men may be, or how good their moral character, the constituency which they are expected to serve, has a grievance, and the sort of a grievance which does not appeal to public sympathy. The commission now in office is attempting to faithfully perform its duty, and the people who believe in law enforcement are satisfied.

The defeat of Taft, which Roosevelt set out to accomplish, should have satisfied the colonel's ambition, but there seems to be no limit, and he is again to the front, denouncing the party which made him, and planning for perpetual leadership. That he will continue to be a troublesome member, is very evident. The democratic party is under obligations to him, and will continue to be so long as he remains in the ring. He promises to be an aggravated edition of William Jennings Bryan.

"THE INVADERS"

Kay-Bee, 3 Reels

A party of young surveyors thoughtlessly break a treaty with the Indians. The life of the Indians is aroused, and they go on the war-path, surround and massacre the whole party of the whites.

But Sky Star, an Indian girl whom one of the young men had won as a sweetheart, starts off to warn the military post, on a perilous ride that is one of the features of the play. Here is shown most astounding horsemanship. But her warning does not avail to prevent one detachment of troopers from being cut to pieces and the whole military post surrounded by an immense horde of Indians, far outnumbering the whites. The battle for life, the ruses to gain time, the clever scheme by which the young Colonel was sent for aid, and the martyrdom of the young Indian girl Sky Star, complete one of the most dramatic stories ever presented in film. Anna Little makes the two most sensational falls from a horse ever made by a woman. This picture is considered by experts to be

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Has a dietetic value greatly beyond the conception of anyone who has not used it. It will make your food of a delicious taste, a moist and keeping quality, and a digestibility not to be obtained from other baking powders or leavening agents.

But more important than all else, Dr. Price's Baking Powder, being a pure, cream of tartar powder, carries only healthful qualities to the food—no alum, no lime phosphate.

It is noticeable that the advertisements of the low priced (10c., 15c., 20c., 25c. per pound) baking powders give no information as to ingredients. The fact that such powders are made from alum is stubbornly concealed, their proprietors going so far as to issue prohibitory contracts against exposure in the newspapers.

Is this because the alum people know that publicity would stop their business? Of course no prudent housekeeper would use an article of food in which she learned there had been concealed an unhealthful ingredient.

Generally Admitted Fact.
Little Ida, two years old, was watching her papa kill a chicken. After he had cut off the head and it was floundering around she watched it a few minutes, then said, "It makes a chicken kind-a nervous to kill 'em, don't it, papa?"

Works Both Ways.
Those who think there are too many children in the world should not forget that children sometimes think there are too many grown-ups.

NAT. C. GOODWIN in "OLIVER TWIST"

Films for Which Nat Goodwin Posed as Fagin are to be Seen Here.

The moving picture portrayal of "Oliver Twist" for which Nat C. Goodwin enacted the role of Fagin, will be seen in this city at the Royal Theater beginning Thursday. Mr. Goodwin has been playing Fagin with great artistic effect in an all-star revival of Charles Dickens' famous story which has held the boards for the closing months of the New York dramatic season just passed.

The motion picture revival of the Dickens' classic is more exhaustive than the usual stage version and pictorially tells the story of the orphan child's antecedents and life at length. The announced desire of its fosterers is to perpetuate this latest revival of Oliver in photographic film. This has been done very effectively.

The audiences are told by the labels of the different groupings shown, the familiar story of the pathetic Oliver, and the pictures are remarkably clear and distinct in matters of detail. There are five reels or acts in the motion play with short intermission between each.

Mr. Goodwin's portrayal of Fagin is a most finished one. He has made the character vivid and repulsive; Bill Sykes as played by Mr. Martin is also a vivid characterization and true to the type created by the original illustrator of Dickens' stories. Vivian Burns proved her skill in posing before the moving picture camera and gives a graphic impersonation of Oliver. Nancy Sykes as portrayed by Miss Beatrice Moreland and the Artful dodger, Rose Maylie, Mrs. Maylie, Mr. Brownlowe, Mr. Grimwilt, Beadle Bumble and all the superfluous roles are in the hands of capable performers.

This moving picture version of "Oliver Twist" was taken at the Gale performance in honor of Charles Dickens' one hundredth anniversary at the New Amsterdam theatre, New York city.

Personality Demanded.
Beauty may win an ephemeral success for a musical comedy actress, but unless it is allied with personality that success is not likely to last very long.—London Answers.

A CHRISTMAS SPIRIT
PERVADES THE AIR

Meanwhile Santa's Little Friends
Continue to Send Him Their Letters.

When you write that letter to Santa Claus, for of course you will be sure and address it to Santa Claus, care of the Gazette. Write on one side of the paper only and just as plainly as possible. Be sure that you put what you want down so the old friend of youth can read it. There is a time limit to the arrival of these letters, they must be in his mail-bag by December 17th so be sure and remember.

Christmas is an institution of world-wide observance still for twelve years England went without a Christmas. The Parliament of that country enacted in 1541 that December 25 should thereafter be a fast day, in repentance for the way in which, for many centuries, and in a wrong belief, the occasion had been given up to beastly feasting and riotous mirth.

This was the work of the Puritans, who were then in control of the government. They did not regard the anniversary of the real birthday of Jesus, but as a heinous relic of paganism, its origin in a hateful mythology and continued by popish power. They sought to disassociate the celebration by declaring the festival to be nothing better than the utilization for Christian purposes of the Celtic Yule time and the Romans' Saturnalia, when those heathen made merry over the fact that from that time forward the sun would increase in its power of warming the earth. Moved by such feeling of joyfulness, the old Romans decorated their houses and shops in fantastic ways, besides having a good time generally after their own style; many features of which have been mildly imitated in modern celebrations of the day.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS
WRITE GERMAN LETTERS

Arrangements Being Made to Carry on Correspondence With Pupils of Schools in "Fatherland."
Arrangements are being made by Miss Caroline Zeiminger, instructor in German and Latin at the Janesville high school, to inaugurate correspondence between pupils of English in the schools of Leipzig, Germany. It is not expected to start the correspondence until some time next spring but in the meantime the names of those who wish to correspond will be placed with a bureau of correspondence. The Germans will send letters written in their own language and the Janesville high school pupils will answer them in English. Later the practice will be reversed to a considerable extent. The plan has been carried out in previous years with gratifying success.

LIBRARY WILL CONTINUE TO BE OPENED SUNDAYS.

Board Made Decision at Last Meeting—Patronage Sufficient to Make Opening Worth While.

Patronage of the public library on Sunday during the last two months, trial has been sufficiently encouraging to warrant the Library Board taking action at its last meeting toward continuing the practice. Although this entails additional work for the librarians, Miss Gertrude Cobb and her assistants are quite willing to permit the use of the library privileges on Sunday, afternoons if the public shows a desire to avail itself of them.

DEBATERS PREPARE FOR FIRST CONTEST

Schedule of Debates in Beloit College
League Has Not Yet Been Announced.

Outlines for the affirmative and negative debating teams of the local high school have been made, and the debaters are preparing on their main speeches and learning them. The first debate has not been decided upon as yet, but information from Beloit concerning the same is expected soon.

The question is of vital interest to the public at the present time. That world peace should be established is the cry of man throughout the country, and still there are many drawbacks to the reading of the debate.

NEW DISCOVERY QUICKLY CURES
KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses Are Taken.

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon, no matter what else may have failed to cure you.

It is a positive fact that the new discovery, Croxone, permanently overcomes such diseases. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for ridding the system of uric acid. Pills, tablets, and other remedies at the best merely stimulate the kidneys, giving temporary relief. Croxone removes the cause and cures the troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped-up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out all the poisons.

It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder; and puts the kidneys and urinary organs in a clean, strong, healthy condition.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate long standing cases, while it cures the most severe forms of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism in a surprisingly short time.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

Peace is a good thing, but to have this country diminish its proportional naval expenditures is a vital question for debate. People who are interested in this subject of world peace, may gather valuable information by attending the debates to be held here this winter.

The debates are held under the auspices of the high school, but the teams are in a league known as the Beloit College Debating Society. In Wisconsin the four teams representing this league are, Janesville, Beloit, Racine and Kenosha, while Illinois has Freeport, Elgin, Aurora and Rockford. The question is considered an even one, and only chosen decisions may be expected.

Ample Testimony of Relief from Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis

Testimonials are usually discounted, but this remedy will show its power in the relief of these diseases in all sections of the country.

Mr. J. J. Smith, a specialist's prescription, entirely free from opiates and narcotics—gives an effective antidote for the uric acid poison which causes all rheumatic diseases.

Local Sir:—During the past two years, writes one correspondent, I have been treated by several doctors and have taken baths at Marine, Mineral Wells and Hot Springs, Ark., but derived very little benefit.

My wife happened to see an ad. about Nuroto in the Boston Post. She sent $1 for a box for me. I had used all faith in any kind of medicine. The first box you sent was lost in transit, but I received another box on Wednesday last. I took one powder after dinner and one after supper. The results were marvelous. My wife, children and neighbors were surprised to see the change I felt much relieved—able to walk better than I have for two years. Enclosed please find $2 for which please send me $2 box by return mail. I wish to get it as quickly as possible.

Magistral Chemical Co., Flatiron, Bldg., N. Y. Trade your miserable aches and pains to us for $1 a box and add your praise to the rest. For sale by J. P. Baker & Son, and all other leading druggists.

RECALL ADVOCATES PLAN BIG MEETING WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Men Behind Movement to Bring About Another Election Decide On Mass Meeting of Those Interested.

Wednesday evening the fate of the recall petition that has been circulating throughout the city in the past few weeks, will be decided at the mass meeting called to meet in Bagley's Hall. Their claim that they have more than enough signatures to secure the recall of the present city officers and demand a new election will be presented at this meeting. The question finally disposed of.

It is the first time in the history of the commission form of government that a recall has been circulated by the element opposed to the enforcement of law and order, and the result will be watched by cities throughout the country with interest. The present mayor and two councilmen, have within the past ninety days, cleaned up Janesville of its undesirable elements and as a result the persons most affected are now seeking revenge by asking for their recall.

It is a question of state law which evidently has not been taken into consideration, that all the ordinances passed, the driving out of the city and closing disorderly houses, keeping minors out of saloons and pool and billiard halls, stopping gambling by means of slot machines and dice games, are all provided for by law. Should the present movement be successful, any taxpayer could file a formal complaint with the district attorney and any violator of the state laws could be prosecuted under the state law, with the whole power of the state of Wisconsin back of the prosecutor.

There is also another question that has been asked relative to the signatures obtained by the canvassers of the petitions. Any person who signed the papers may withdraw their name before they are filed with the city clerk, either by notification to the person having charge of the papers or by scratching the name off the list personally. It is understood that many of the signatures obtained have been done through this understanding.

There was a meeting of the executive committee of ten, held at the meeting held last Thursday, last evening to discuss possible candidates. It is understood that considerable difficulty is being found in securing proper candidates and that the committee failed to make up any definite slate, having several prospective aspirants for office in view they would confer with today.

REPORTS SUBMITTED AT COUNCIL MEETING

Constituted Principal Business Taken Up This Afternoon—Chief Klein Makes Suggestions.

Reports submitted by the various officers and departments of the city government constituted the principal business before the council at its meeting this afternoon. W. B. Delin, superintendent of the stone crusher, presented a report of the crusher's output for the present year, Chief of Fire Department Henry C. Klein submitted a report for the last quarter, and reports for the month of November were presented by Clerk of the Municipal Court A. C. Thorpe, the City Treasurer, Chief of Police Appleby, and the Board of Education. The report of City Sealers of Weights and Measures, Walter Holmes covered the two months' Orders and disbursements of the Board of Education for November totalled $6,396.00.

Shearer, Ford & Boos presented a petition to the council asking permission to erect a building on lot 5, Doe's subdivision of lot 177 in the Small, Bailey & Stone addition.

The city treasurer was directed to transfer the sum of $2,500 from the interest account fund to the general fund.

City Attorney W. H. Dougherty filed an opinion of the legality of the taxation of the cost of the reassessment to the city.

The report of Chief Klein for the last quarter was as follows:

To the Mayor and Councilmen of the City of Janesville, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:—I herewith submit my quarterly report, as Chief Engineer of the Fire Department. Since my last quarterly report we have been very fortunate in the way of fire. No loss of any great amount has been recorded.

Since January first of the present year the department has responded to sixty-two (62) alarms of fire, of which the greater number were "stills."

All of the fire horses and wagons are in the same condition as noted in previous reports.

Since March first the fire department has given the street department 750 feet of fire hose, which had a value of $305.00. I will ask that the fire department be given credit for that amount.

Some months ago the fire department gave the street department one horse which I estimate had a value of $175.00. I will ask that the fire department be given credit for that amount.

I will respectfully call the attention of the council to a dangerous electrical condition, in the rear of the Shurtliff factory on Park street. There are transformers belonging to the Electric Company that have wires carrying 2300 volts, and are in reaching distance of the small boy.

A contact with the same under certain conditions would mean instant death.

I will respectfully recommend that a fire alarm box be located at the corner of S. River and Wall streets.

Mr. Wm. Drafiak, a full paid member of the department was injured while responding to an alarm last November, to the extent that the services of a doctor was needed. I will respectfully ask that this doctor bill be paid by the city.

Respectfully submitted,

H. C. KLEIN, Chief Engineer.

Theaters

Mr. Connors will be heard in a very fine program at Myers Theatre, Thursday, Dec. 12.

College Concert At Auditorium, June 17, 1911.

Chicago Examiner: Maurice Rosenfeld:—

J. Connors gave a very brilliant and musical interpretation of Liszt's E flat concerto for piano and orchestra, and revealed in its rendition the promise of a bright pianistic future.

Record-Herald: Felix Borowski:—

J. Francis Connors delivered himself of a brilliant execution of Liszt's E flat concerto.

Ravinia Park Concert Soloist with the Chicago Philharmonic Orchestra under the direction of Chevalier Emanuel, rendering the Hungarian Fantasia of Liszt.

The Chicago Evening Post: Carlton Hockett:—

Mr. Francis Connors played the Liszt Fantasia very well, with temperament and fingers which have been well trained.

Musical Courier: Rene Devries:—

J. Francis Connors, a student of Maurice Rosenfeld, played the Hungarian Fantasia with the Chicago Philharmonic Orchestra at Ravinia Park last Sunday and displayed good pianistic abilities.

Hospital Benefit at Orchestra Hall. Chicago Examiner: Maurice Rosenfeld:—

"Young pianist plays brilliantly." J. Francis Connors, a young pianist, who is making remarkable strides in his art, gave a brilliant rendition of the B minor Capriccio for piano and orchestra, by Mendelssohn, and revealed talents for musical tone, shading and technical facility.

"THE THIRD DEGREE." "Contrary to all criticisms of 'The Third Degree,' says one of the New York dailies, 'Annie Jeffries, the young wife in the peculiar 'Klein' drama, does not battle alone for her husband's life. Far be it from a single handed combat on the part of Mr. Klein's sweet little character, for at every performance Adele Hughes, who plays the young wife, has from fifteen to eighteen hundred staunch supporters, who sob, strain, struggle and smile with her. 'As she fights,' continues the paper, 'so do her supporters. After Howard, her dissipated mate, makes his confession, it is indeed a study to look over the faces of the spectators, one would think, to see the earnest expression of the watchers in the orchestra, that every man, woman and child in the theatre was married to Howard Jeffries, or his wife, and vitally interested in the outcome, for the spectators are the fighters, mental fighters, not material, and fight they surely do.'"

"The Third Degree" will be presented at Myers Theatre Saturday, December 14, matinee and evening with a capable cast of sterling players.

"THOMAS W. ROSS IN 'THE ONLY SON.'" Thomas W. Ross is coming to Myers Theatre Tuesday, December 17, again. This will be good news to the scores of theatergoers who remember his clever work in "Checkers" in this city and who have heard of the remarkable success which he won in "The Fortune Hunter" and later in "The Only Son."

He will use "The Only Son" for his coming engagement which will be at the Myers Theatre, Tuesday evening, December 17.

"THE GIRL AND THE DRUMMER." Mr. Fred Byers, who comes here with "The Girl and the Drummer" on Dec. 10, at Myers theatre got in bad with one of the newspapers in a Iowa city a few years ago. Mr. Byers had occasion to use a local newspaper in the second act of the play they were presenting. The next day the reporter who reviewed the performance said, "In the second act where the scene is an English drawing room, Mr. Byers snatched up a copy of our paper, with our back page in full view of the audience, and spoke of it as the London Times. We would like to ask Mr. Byers what grievance he has against our office?"

"Mr. Byers appears here this evening with 'The Girl and the Drummer.'"

BIRTHS HAD BIG LEAD OVER DEATHS LAST MONTH.

Vital Statistics For Janesville in November Show Sixteen Births To Nine Deaths.

Births were nearly twice the number of deaths in Janesville during the month of November according to the vital statistics for that period kept at the office of City Health Officer Dr. M. A. Cunningham. There were sixteen births, nine deaths, thirteen marriages, and six accidents. Reports of births are often filed late, but seldom sufficient number to materially alter the figures given out at the beginning of each month.

RETROSPECTION ONE OF THE STRONG BOOKS OF THE YEAR

Especially Timely Just at This Period in the History of the United States.

Hubert Howe Bancroft has written one of the books of the year, a volume with a "punch" to it, when he produced Retrospection. It is a volume that should be on the shelves of every American who studies his native land. Just at this time it is especially timely with the opening of the Panama canal, the great doorway of the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans, but a few months away. Mr. Bancroft reviews the history of the United States in a manner that is convincing and historically correct and the volume comes from the press of the Bancroft company, New York, an excellent example of the printer's art.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat
BY RUTH CAMERON

ONE beautiful holiday morning early in the fall—the wonderful kind of day that sounds the call of the road to the dullest ears and sets the wants-to-go-somewhere fever burning in the most sluggish veins, I happened to drop in on one of my neighbors at about nine o'clock in the morning to ask for the loan of some small article.

My neighbor said she would be more than pleased to lend me the article if I would just make myself at home and wait a few minutes until she got the children off for the day and then she would hunt up what I wanted.

My neighbor has in her household five sons and daughters and one daughter-in-law. Their ages range from 16 to 30. They were all going off on some pleasant excursion for the day, so perhaps you can imagine the excitement that reigned there for the next half hour.

David, the youngest, was off to a neighboring town to play in a ball game and had to have his mother's assistance in finding his mask at the last moment.

The eighteen year old daughter was bound on an all-day canoe trip and her mother had to help her with the launch.

The twins had been invited on an auto ride and were asking frantically where their automobile veils were.

The oldest son and the new daughter had hired a carriage for a drive into the country and mother must come to the front door and see what a fine rig they had!

The excitement finally subsided when the twins, who were the last to go, whirled away in a big touring car, and after waving them off their mother came back from the front door and sank rather wearily into the easy chair.

"Now what are YOU going to do this lovely day?" I asked.

"I think the whirl must have tired my friend more than usual for she is always a very cheerful person, but this time her optimism seemed to have failed her," she said very wistfully and just a little bitterly. "Oh I'm not going to do anything. I just see folks off. I'm the left behind lady."

Now these five sons and daughters are not unusually selfish children. They are just thoughtless. It has probably never occurred to them that mothers like to go places on holidays just as much as other folks. Like thousands of other sons and daughters they probably think the older generation stays at home so much because it prefers peace and quiet. They are always on the go themselves, so they have never experienced that let-down, empty, desolate feeling that comes when, after seeing other folks off, you go back into a quiet house.

If young folks would only cease to look at the older people as a separate species, and would only come to realize that after all they have much the same longings for fun and happiness and attention as themselves, and that sometimes they like to be seen off instead of always doing the seeing off, I am sure the sons and daughters would make a greater effort to include the older people in their good times.

Is YOUR mother "the left behind lady"?

HELPFUL HINTS.

A pinch of cream of tartar in sugar or boiled frosting will prevent sugaring and the frosting will be smooth and creamy.

Cover poached eggs a moment to give them the pretty pink look.

Water your ferns once a week with cold coffee or tea. It will make them grow luxuriantly.

Add a little chopped cabbage and apple to potato salad. They improve it.

Canned pineapple juice cooked with sage or tapioca and served with cream makes a fine dessert.

Almost any kind of preserves and whipped cream sprinkled with dried cake crumbs that have been flavored with rose water will provide a nice dessert.

A delicious filling for a layer cake is prepared with a cup of maple sirup and powdered sugar, to make it of the right consistency to spread with a few chopped nuts added.

Make the meal times helpful, amusing and instructive. Even the little people can bring their contribution, if each is expected to take some part, by giving something in conversation for the general good.

When tying a package, with no one to put a finger on the string, slip the end you are tying twice through the other, instead of once. The knot will not then slip while you finish tying.

Do not salt soup until after you are through skimming it, as the salt will stop the rising of the steam.

The addition of a half cup of raisins to a rhubarb pie greatly improves it.

When cooking rice, remember it is to be put on in boiling water and cooked long and well that all of the starch grains may be well broken.

HEART and HOME
PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 21 and have been introduced to a nice gentleman. When he left me he wanted to shake hands and then he kissed my hand. My girl friend says it has a meaning. Would you please tell me what it means?

SUNSHINE.

Kissing a lady's hand is an old-fashioned courtesy, that is all.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl and deeply in love with a young man I used to go with. As I would never go to the theater or ask him in our house, we quit going together. How can I gain him back, as I love no one but him? Whenever he sees me he waves or yells to me if I am on the opposite side of the street.

BROKENHEART.

You did wrong not to let him visit you in your home, my dear. Next time you see him, ask him if he wouldn't like to drop in some evening for a good old visit. That will be enough, if he wants to make up with you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—What is good for dandruff? (2)—What is good to clean a tan felt hat?

MARIE.

(1)—First see that your general health is good. Nothing will entirely remove dandruff, but you will have very little to bother you if you will keep your hair and combs and brushes clean. Massage the scalp night and morning with a tiny bit of castor oil and at least once a day give your hair a thorough brushing after the massage.

(2)—Put a little cold water into a saucer and add a few drops of ammonia. Brush the hat as clean as possible, then sponge the hat with ammonia water. To press the hat afterward: wring a thick cloth out of cold water. Put this over the hat and iron with a moderately hot iron until dry. Pulling the cloth from the felt will raise the nap and make it look almost new.

There is much discussion about breakfasts. Some believe a hearty breakfast is essential, others a light breakfast of fruit, rolls and coffee, and still there are many who believe in the no breakfast plan and seem to thrive upon it.

We do know, however, that it has been the one difficult meal to prepare and have each member of the family satisfied.

With all kinds of cereals in the markets to choose from, cooked or uncooked, which have large food values, meats have been discarded, and we are all better for it, at the same time care should be exercised in planning to suit various needs of the family.

from the child who goes to kindergarten to the father who may be engaged in out-of-door manual labor. Do not begin a breakfast with grapefruit, oranges or other acid fruit and follow with a cereal and milk or cream. As a rule if one does not care for much, or no breakfast, do not urge it. Drink plenty of water slowly and have an apple or light lunch within three hours after.

In cold weather we can indulge occasionally in buckwheat or other cakes, fried mush and some heavy dishes, but not for steady diet. Our systems become clogged and later in the season we have what is generally called "spring fever," and it is nothing but an over-fed system. Nothing is better, occasionally, than a breakfast entirely of apples, in fact, it would be a fine thing to have one meal a day of fruit alone. A few good suggestive dishes for breakfasts are: Grapefruit, oranges, apples, pears, apricots, figs, dates, bananas, cereals of all kinds, fried cornmeal mush and bacon; hominy, muffins, toast, eggs, waffles.

Not a Flour sifted before measuring, all measurements level.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How can I cure hairiness? STEWART.

Don't think of yourself. Think about others and don't feel that they are always thinking about you. Just forget yourself entirely and you'll soon forget to be bashful.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a boy of seventeen. How can I make my hair fluffy and curly? It is very brittle.

(2)—In sending manuscript of a play, should the synopsis accompany the synopsis?

(3)—Do you consider my writing good for a boy who never saw a school?

(4)—At a party one night I was introduced to a girl, whom I accompanied home. At the gate I jokingly asked for a kiss. She threw her arms around me and placed her lips to mine and held me so tight I was surprised at her physical strength. She said she never knew what love was until she met me. I did not want to hurt her feelings, and told her I cared for her only as a friend, but even if I loved her, I was in no position to marry; besides, I have plenty of time to get married, as I am but a youth. Am I right—E. R. F.

(1)—It is almost impossible to make stiff hair soft and curly. Rub a little vaseline into the scalp and wash the hair once a week.

(2)—Yes.

(3)—Yes.

(4)—Yes, you are just a boy and the girl should have laughed off your request for a kiss. You did right to tell her that you cared for her only as a friend and I would advise you to see as little as possible of her. Don't think of marriage until you are at least 21. And don't ask any more girls for a kiss until you are ready to marry.

DRUNK ... it in pastries drank-drink you'll find Van Houten's all-ways most economical and healthful.

Christmas Suggestion.

A Handkerchief Bag—Use two large flowered handkerchiefs (colors to match bedrooms best). Lay one right side up, the other crossways on it, so that you have eight ends.

Get a common fancy work hoop, lay it in the center of the handkerchiefs, mark the goods around the hoop. In the center and cut out where marked.

About two yards of one-inch satin ribbon to correspond with color in handkerchiefs is used. Wrap enough ribbon around the hoop to cover it. Sew hoop in place cut in handkerchiefs. Rosettes and one-half of ribbon sewed on each side of hoop for a hanger complete it.

The Table.

Escalloped Beef—Cut round steak into small pieces, place layer in baking dish, season with salt and pepper, also bits of butter if there is not much fat then dredge with flour. Repeat this until meat is all used, put thick layer of flour on top, then cover whole with water—use enough water so there will be plenty of gravy. Place in oven and cook slowly three hours. This is especially good served with mashed potatoes.

Economical Baked Potatoes—A clever scheme of saving gas. Place a tin cover over one of the burners on top of the range. Over this put an asbestos plate, then place potatoes on this plate. Potatoes and plate are covered with an old pan and heated with a not too hot flame. The potatoes are turned several times to prevent burning and secure equal baking.

Stuffed chicken that will always turn out well for the cook. Select a young chicken and prepare as always. Have ready for stuffing one-half loaf of bread from day before, cut up in dice. Beat three eggs, add 1-2 cups milk, dash of pepper, a little mace,

EXHIBIT CHILDREN'S BOOKS AT LIBRARY

Attractive Display of Books Suitable For Christmas Gifts Has Been Placed on Exhibition.

For the guidance and assistance of parents and friends who plan to give books to children as Christmas gifts, Miss Gertrude Cobb, librarian at the Janesville public library has placed on display in the library, some of the books best suited for the children to read. The array of books on exhibition is a most attractive one. Some of these are recently published books, other good editions of the children's classics, the books which every child should read and should own, is possible.

A Christmas book for a child should be: First, a beautiful picture; second, something which will give the child pleasure; third, a safe book, one of which parent, teacher or older friend can feel sure that it contains nothing harmful in morals, manners or language. If it is also an inspiring book and will widen the child's horizon, so much the better.

Parents and friends who are planning to give books as Christmas gifts, are invited to call at the library. These books will be on exhibition until Wednesday, Dec. 12. The librarians will also gladly give information and advice in regard to books for children, aside from those contained in this exhibition.

C. A. Fuller of Evansville called on his brother, Fred, Sunday afternoon, who has been confined to his bed by illness for the past two weeks. He is recovering very slowly.

Mrs. H. O. Barlow returned home from Beloit Saturday, having spent the past week there, owing to the illness of her sister, Mrs. Addie Lynn.

St. Louis, Mo., July 20, 1912.—"We noticed small lumps breaking out on my oldest boy's legs. They started to spread, and then broke out all over his face. The sufferings were terrible. One of the remedies we used was Resinol, which is very widely advertised for eczema, but this irritated the sores so badly that the child couldn't stand the pain. Finally, our physician recommended Resinol Ointment, which immediately cooled and gave the child relief. So I got a cake of Resinol Soap and used it for his bath, and in a week's time his skin was clear and all of the sores were healed." (Signed) Mrs. F. W. Turner, 1033a S. 8th St.

A NEIGHBOR is a person who lives close enough to borrow coffee and sugar, but too far away to send them back. A woman is said to be neighborly when she borrows fresh eggs from the house next door and pays them back in the cold storage variety which is about to turn sour.

In the early history of our country there was no such thing as neighbors, and a man could hug his wife on the front porch without being subjected to rude remarks from people across the way who never hugged anything but a base-burner coal stove.

Our ancestors were a free people and could have $2 worth of pork delivered at their house by express without hearing from it at church the next morning. A Puritan forefather thought nothing of running the lawn more in a pink undershirt, as the nearest neighbor was too far away to protest with a frigid look.

Nowadays, neighbors get up as close as they can and then use spy glasses. This enables them to tell at once whether a man and his wife are on speaking terms with each other and console with the hired girl because she is not allowed to eat at the table. More hired girls have acquired a distant and reserved air as a result of this practice than by being denied the use of the telephone during a company dinner.

Some people always aim to pick out a neighbor who keeps hens, which overflow into the garden and waltz up and down the back porch. Once in a while one of these hens will abscond with an egg on alien territory, which causes deep solicitude and a quick search on the part of the owner, who claims the egg but does not curb the nomadic instincts of the hen. Other neighbors own restless milch cows, which wait until everybody has gone to bed and then break into somebody's green corn on an empty stomach.

Neighbors forgive each other rapidly, however, when there is sickness in the house, and they show more downright kindness and big-heartedness than could be repaid in a thousand years. Then they become just "folks," and mighty good folks, at that.

Almost Like Magic. Guaranteed.

The new corn cure "GETS-IT" is perfect. It's harmless to the healthy flesh, but it does go to the root of the corn, and works away from the healthy flesh and drops off. You can apply "GETS-IT" in two seconds and it begins to work right off. Pretty soon you'll forget you ever had corns or bunions.

"GETS-IT" is sold at all druggists, at 25 cents a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. L. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Janesville by McCue & Buss, Smith Drug Co., Reliable Drug Co., J. P. Baker & Son.

Had Tuberculosis of Glands; Now Well

If you are a sufferer from Glandular Tuberculosis, or know of anyone so afflicted, it might be well to investigate this case, where the writer declares after a year of suffering, he found permanent relief and full recovery to health by using Eckman's Alternative, a medicine which has been effective in many cases of Tuberculosis.

257 Laruston St., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen:—In March, 1909, I was taken sick and my doctor pronounced my case 'Tuberculosis of the Glands.' Medical treatment did not help me, and on my doctor's advice, I went to a hospital to be operated upon, but relief was only temporary. I lost strength, and at times would have cold sweats and fever. In April, 1910, I returned to the hospital, but the continued operations were not benefiting me.

"In the meantime, a friend of mine advised Eckman's Alternative, saying it was good for Tuberculosis. The wounds in my neck were still open and in a frightful condition when I started to take it. After using two bottles, I was improving, having gained weight, could eat, and was able to sleep. I continued using it until I was well. I took the medicine in the form of capsules; since I have been taking it, I have not had any. On November 11, 1910, I started to work, and since that time I have not lost one day's work through sickness. I can highly recommend Eckman's Alternative to anyone who is suffering from Tuberculosis of Glandular Tuberculosis, providing they take it with any party desiring further information of what the medicine did for me."

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiate or habit-forming drugs. Ask for telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and Smith Drug Co., McCue & Buss, Peoples Drug Co., in Janesville.

HIS RISE TO POWER

By HENRY RUSSELL MILLER.
Author of "The Man Higher Up"
Copyright, 1911, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

"That star is beautiful, but it is very, very high. Can't you understand? Ask me to go with you to the mountain top and I will go. I will help you climb, but to that star—and I can't."

She had shaken him, as she could always shake him, set him to questioning the real value of the purpose that through forces over which he had no control, as it seemed, had grown until it filled his life, excluding all else. Her hand still rested on his arm, yet he found strength to answer:

"You've said it yourself—caring isn't everything."

He got to his feet slowly. She, too, rose. With a sudden jealous contraction of her heart she realized how little of the grief she had thought to see was in his look. Strength was there, the strength to suffer and to withstand, and something else, almost a glow, the reflection of a spirit handed down to this man across the generations from an age of martyrs who were glad to pay for their faith. With a great price he was paying for his faith, and it became the more precious to him.

She found the need to justify herself before him.

"At least," she said unsteadily, "you will remember that I didn't pretend until it was too late for you to escape me and then worry you into going my way, as many women have done. I'm not quite so selfish as that. Am I wholly contemptible?"

He judged her generously. "You aren't contemptible. It is only that you don't love. Love doesn't haggle or try to drag down. You have mistaken, honestly mistaken, something else for it. If you cared—but you don't. You will find that out soon."

For a little she looked at him unwaveringly. Then her strength seemed to wilt.

"You are right, I suppose, and I have missed a great deal. Goodbye," and went in the house.

CHAPTER XII.

Locusts and Wild Honey.

SON of the old regime returning to New Chelsea after four years would have found vast improvements wrought. Nor was the prosperity thus attested merely the crumbs from the table of thriving Plumville. It was all New Chelsea's own, and it had come by the avenue of Stephen Hampden's speculation, for the coal company, despite the rules of the game, was a success for all concerned. Already it was paying dividends.

But a great deal more than a "boom" can happen in four years. That number of cycles saw William Murchell's power shaken, totter and crash to the earth. Most people credited this to the craft of Mark Sherrod, state treasurer and the new minister, and his able lieutenant, Governor Parrott. Murchell would have placed the credit or blame elsewhere. Had he had the habit of discussing his mistakes he would have added a year to our calculation and said that the initial blow had been struck at his power when on a certain June day, in company with Jim Sheehan, he had sought to press a bright-faced young man into his service.

If it was your good fortune to be a resident of New Chelsea at that time you will remember how John Dunmeade appeared when he was thirty-five—a grave, quiet man, looking older than his years, as carelessly dressed as men are apt to be who are dreaming of big things. His hair was beginning to thin at the temples. He walked with a slight stoop and with less spring—the long, slow stride of a man who thinks much on his feet.

He made it a point, however unhappily his cause was progressing, never to seem downcast. You would leave him, probably thinking it a pity that such an attractive man should be so unpractical and the object of so many bitter and powerful enemies. If the fifth must be told, New Chelsea was more than a little disappointed in John Dunmeade.

His health was not always good. He had suffered a serious illness during one winter and, between the duties of office, the cares of a growing private practice and the incessant labors of politics, his body had been sadly overtaxed. He was still district attorney, last trophy of the reform wave that had swept over the shattered machine. Under the leadership of Greene, an ex-gambler and former lieutenant of Sheehan, less obviously the brute and far shrewder than the deposed boss, the Plumville organization had risen from its ashes. He had recaptured all the county offices, except when John, a candidate for re-election, had won through personal popularity and by a scant margin.

Politics is a hard taskmaster. John found poor compensation in the fact that he had become well known throughout the state. The year after the Benton county reform he had joined himself to the cause of Judge Gray, an honest and capable lawyer who dared to ask the old party nomination for governor against the organization's choice. With the judge John made a vigorous stump campaign in every county of the state. He was new, he was enthusiastic, he was daring. People listened, Parrott was nominated easily according to the "state."

Judge Dunmeade was not nominated to the supreme court that year; hence the branch of a lifelong friendship, increased bitterness against his son and many I-told-you-sos from Miss Roberta. But John preached on. He did more than attack. He devised and proffered remedies with a naive disregard of the conservative habit of the American mind that incited with some apprehension in others and bewilderment in still others. It is not necessary here to enumerate his remedies. They have since become respectable.

He learned in common with other young iconoclasts something of the exaltation and character and aims of the personal government which lay behind the formal and of the marvellously woven system by which the dominant personalities twisted the form of government to their purpose. Being a young man who thought himself inspired, he was agitated and the more determined to destroy that system. Not wholly lacking a sense of proportion, he realized the temerity of him who undertook such wholesale destruction.

But his youthful optimism and faith in the people had not failed. His task was to expound the machine to the people of his state. Always he saw victory just one year ahead.

In those days—to be exact, three years—before the destruction of the Sheehan machine—there was strife in the organizations of both parties. Upon the devoted heads of Murchell and Duffy, the respective bosses, hurried about from strange quarters. Anxious cries rang from the deck of the ship Murchell had steered so long. Then the storm burst.

The biennial election of a state treasurer was at hand. There appeared to John one day a plausible gentleman who discussed the troubled waters. He was in a state of righteous indignation. Murchell's domination had continued too long! Patience with his tyrannical ways had ceased to be a virtue. His unfitness had been proved by his breach of contract to let Sherrod succeed Beck. And he, the messenger, was glad to say, in confidence, that those able and distinguished patriots and leaders, Mark Sherrod and Philander Parrott, were organizing a revolt and proposed to make the treasurer nomination a test of strength. And they had commissioned him to urge that other able, etc., John Dunmeade, the man who had "kicked Murchell in his own back yard," to join the reform. He was deeply hurt when John refused.

Haig, who also had made New Chelsea his legal residence, invented sundry lurid epithets to describe John's folly and urged reconsideration. John shook his head.

"But I thought you wanted to put Murchell out of business."

"Not Murchell. I've grown past that. I'm rather sorry for him just now. And I'd rather have him run things than Sherrod. It's the institution we've got to destroy—as he told me himself once. Nothing's gained if we substitute one boss for another."

"Then what are you going to do, my destructive friend?"

"Try to slip in between them. I think—put up an independent candidate."

John made his campaign. When the primaries had been held, he was himself astonished to discover that nearly a quarter of the delegates chosen were pledged to his independent candidate. But before daylight on the night before the convention John learned that he had been used to draw delegates from Murchell for Sherrod's purpose; he saw his hand dwindle to a faithful handful.

When the convention met, Sherrod was in control. After the preliminaries John, answering to the roll call of counties, placed his candidate in nomination in a speech that could hardly be heard for jeers and catcalls. It was brought to an abrupt conclusion by a yell from the gallery. "Sit down, sonny. Only money talks in this convention!" Even the delegates joined in the roar of laughter. And then the coup was accomplished. The Parrott-Sherrod candidate was withdrawn and Sherrod himself substituted. Amid confusion that amounted almost to a riot he was nominated.

A nonpartisan candidate was put up that fall. John and Jerry Brent were most active in his support. They made what was said to be a remarkable campaign, and in every county they were met with tremendous enthusiasm. People flocked by thousands to hear them and cheered themselves hoarse as the young orators exorated the bosses. But on election day the people marched to the polls, voted as they had always done and elected the old party ticket by a majority of more than 100,000.

The campaign fixed John's place firmly in the public mind. This place, one that a practical man would have thought twice before seeking, was won at the cost of much of his buoyant optimism. It almost cost him his life also. A heavy cold contracted during the last days of the campaign eventually settled into a stubborn case of pneumonia. There were many anxious days in the Dunmeade home. Nor was Miss Roberta's anxiety unshared. Through three consecutive nights Hugh Dunmeade never sought his couch but kept a constant vigil by his son's bedside, listening to the painful breathing and, without protest, to the reproaches of an inner voice. When the Christmas holidays arrived John was still confined to his room.

That winter Senator Murchell varied his program by spending the congressional recess at his legal residence.

And one Sunday morning he came face to face with the judge and Miss Roberta in the vestibule of the Presbyterian church. It was the first meeting in more than two years.

"The doctor tells me John ought to go south and won't. If it's on account of—or money matters," the senator looked carefully out into the street. "I'll be glad to help out."

"No, sir," the judge put in stiffly. "If John needs money it is my right to provide it." It had not occurred to him before to exercise the right.

"Stuff," said the senator. "I know how you're fixed. Hugh. You can't afford it. I can."

"Our political enemies! Have you turned reformer, judge?" Murchell inquired innocently. "I thought you didn't believe in agitation."

"At least my son is an honorable gentleman," the judge retorted. "He doesn't go about deceiving his friends with promises he has no intention of keeping." Here the judge certainly scored.

"John," declared the judge later to Roberta with ill-concealed pride,

"doesn't need charity from me or any one else. Only justice. He's an honest but misguided man."

Others than Senator Murchell overstepped a custom to spend the Yuletide in New Chelsea. To John, by way of Haig and Miss Roberta, came rumors of a very gay house party on the ridge that had been led by some strange whim to experience the novelty of a Mordecai ("Three-fingered") Brown.

Mordecai Brown, the famous three-fingered pitcher of the Chicago Cubs, is seriously considering opening a baseball school where teaching the art of pitching will be the specialty. Brownie will also devote some time toward teaching his pupils base running, and the art of fielding the pitcher's position.

"If I receive just a little encouragement I certainly will open the school," says Brown. "Friends of mine, fans whose friendship I won when I was pitching for the Cubs, have told me that the idea was a good one. I wouldn't accept many pupils, as it is my intention of giving every young man my personal attention."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville, Daily Gazette, Dec. 10, 1872.—Attempt to Capture the Night Mail: Billy Steele, a boy of about fifteen, employed to carry the mails between the depot and the postoffice, was ordered to stand and deliver last night, while bringing the midnight mail from the depot. But Billy escaped with his three or four bags of disease, and a hand cart has been brought into use as an "ad interim" means of conveyance. Billy went to the depot as usual last night, drawing his little cart, and procured the mail from the 12:30 train from Chicago. On his return, when about a block from the depot, a man suddenly stepped into the road behind the cart, asked him if he hadn't got the mail, and ordered him to stop. Billy replied that 'twas none of his business, but the fellow evidently differed with him on that point, as he insisted on a halt. The plucky carrier did stop, but warned the fellow not to stop unless he wanted a bullet through his head. But the threat had no effect, and the cart, the mail bags and Billy flew over the Nicolson pavement in the direction of the postoffice like a three-minute horse.

So on Time's funeral 1912 director this old hoary year will shelve, and he'll be as dead as Hector—poor old crippled Nineteen Twelve! And it brings us somewhat nearer to our own appointed end, and we see now, somewhat clearer, shadows of the dusk descend, and our locks, once bright and curly, now begin to thin and fade, as we do our shopping early in the clanging marts of trade. Now our eyes are somewhat dimmer, and we long to wear a wig, and our legs are somewhat slimmer, while our waists are twice as big, and our briny tears are dropping as we view our double chins, while we wisely do our shopping ere the Christmas rush begins.
